TRAIN STONERS GIVEN FREEDOM

William Sweeney and Eugene White, Arrested Wednesday, Are Allowed to go Free.

BOTH WERE OF TENDER YEARS

Given Lecture by Mayor Black as to Seriousness of Offense—Profuse With Thanks.

"If you boys will promise me that you will not commit this offense again," said Mayor Black to Eugene White and William Sweeney of Cincinnati, who were arrested Wednesday for stoning a C. H. & D. train, in court this afternoon, "I will permit you to go free." The two young men were given their freedom on the agreement that if they ever came up again they would be given the limit. They were profuse in their thanks to the court and the deputy prosecutor and left this afternoon for their homes.

The trial was held yesterday afternoon, when it was proven by witnesses that the two boys stoned a C. H. & D. train early Wednesday morning. Charles McClain, brakeman on the passenger, said on the witness stand that Sweeney threw a rock at the train and he barely avoided being hit by it. McClain also told the deputy prosecutor, Wallace Morgan, that he threw a rock at the boys before they ever made any attempt at stoning the train. He said that the boys had no attorney to cross examine him and for that reason he did not tell that on the witness stand.

Sweeney and White were taken to mayor's court shortly after noon today to hear the decision of the mayor. The deputy prosecutor practically recommended that they be freed. He said that he was well acquainted with people in Cincinnati who knew the two young men held here and that they had excellent reputations. He said that he carried a letter from a man with whom he was well acquainted which stated that the young men were of good character. The deputy prosecutor said that he believed that the two boys were not hardened criminals, as they showed by their actions and that they had only committed the crime in a fit of anger.

Mayor Black impressed upon the two boys that the crime which they committed was a very serious offense and in fact, a penitentiary offense. He told them that the minimum fine he could assess under the statute was ten dollars and costs and thirty days in jail. That would mean fifty days in jail. The mayor also made it plain that he could give them the maximum fine which was a six months' jail sentence.

White and Sweeney were clean looking young men and did not have the earmarks of hardened criminals. Their actions in police court and their general feeling of uneasiness and nervousness marked them as novices in the business. They both cried when they were arrested Wednesday.

TEMPERANCE FOLK SEE SUCCESS AHEAD

Cambridge City Will be "Dry" Next April For First Time in Ninety-Four Years.

ONE WILL CLOSE VOLUNTARILY

Next April the lawful sale of intoxicating liquors in Jackson township, Wayne county will be prohibited for the first time since its organization in February, 1817—a period of 94 years—with the exception of the years of the Maine law in 1852-54, when State wide prohibition was in effect, says the Cambridge City Tribune. A remonstrance was filed with the county auditor last Friday containing 642 names, out of 1176 votes cast for secretary of State at the last general election.

On Thursday previous 56 withdrawals were filed, a part of which were again induced to sign by the remonstrators, leaving 32 majority in favor of abolishing the sale of liquor by retail in this township. When the commissioners met Monday, the anti-temperance people asked for a continuance, which was granted until June 15, to give them time to look over the signatures and ascertain their legality. Of the eight saloons in the township at the beginning of the year, one will close this month voluntarily, one was closed by the death of the owner, one will close this week, two next month, two next February and the last in April.

UNIQUE ECLIPSE OF SUN TO BE SEEN

Will be Visible to All Observers in United States Friday, June 17, Lasting All Day.

BEGINS EARLY IN MORNING

On Friday, June 17, there will be an eclipse of the sun unlike any other eclipse within the knowledge of man. The eclipse will be of a very interesting character, from the fact that for a few seconds it will be an annular eclipse then changing to a total eclipse, then back to an annular for the second time. There is no record of any such occurrence in any history of astronomy, although record of annular eclipses for 400 years have been found and of total eclipses for thousands of years.

The eclipse as a partial phase of greater or less magnitude will be visible over the North American continent from the north, decreasing in size as it passes through Canada and the States. It will begin shortly after seven o'clock in the morning and last all day.

WOMAN PLAYED PART IN CAPTURE

Mrs. Oliver Goddard of Near Sandusky Recognized Jail Breakers Yesterday.

NOTIFIED DECATUR SHERIFF

Who Sent Word to Local Officials—May Get $75 Reward For Their Apprehension.

It is very probable that Sheriff Clata Bebout will get seventy-five dollars reward for the capture of the two jail breakers near Milroy yesterday, but he may be compelled to divide it. The sheriff of Decatur county who was the first official to be put on the trail of the escaped convicts, might want a portion of the money, and the woman, who first saw the men—she may have a claim.

It is said that the commissioners of Hancock county had offered a reward of seventy-five dollars for the apprehension of Court Martin and Leonard Fletcher, who broke jail there five weeks ago by boring a hole through the cell floor. If the reward is allowed the local official should come in for a good slice as he was largely responsible for their capture.

But had it not been for Mrs. Oliver Goddard, living near Sandusky, Decatur county, the men would probably have been free. Early yesterday morning they applied for work and something to eat at the Goddard home. Mrs. Goddard recognized them as the two men wanted at Greenfield, as one of them had worked in that county several years ago.

She telephoned Sheriff Patterson of Greensburg, who tried in vain to get an automobile to give chase. After he had given up, he telephoned the local sheriff that the two men were headed toward Milroy, where they would probably catch a train. Sheriff Bebout went there immediately and found them.

PLAN TO INSTALL ELECTRIC LIGHTS

Carthage Will be Best Lighted Town in State When New Tungstens Are Put In.

WILL REPLACE THE OLD ONES

If present plans materialize Carthage will be one of the best lighted towns in the State. At the regular meeting of the town council this week, F. F. Brennan, owner of the light plant, was granted the permission to install fifteen one-hundred-watt Tungsten lamps at a total cost of $18 a month. The lights will be placed at practically every corner in the town, replacing old ones in many instances. The Tungsten lamp is the one which is used here. For the consideration Mr. Brennan also agreed to supply the town hall with light and to keep all street lights on whenever needed.

FEW BIG CASES ON COURT CALENDAR

September Term Will Offer Little of Interest Except Small Number of State Suits.

LIQUOR CASE WILL BE TRIED

Damage Complaints Are Numerous And Only Small Number of Estates to be Settled.

The court calendar has been made up for the September term and does not present any startling cases for the session of court after the summer vacation. Several State cases appear on the calendar, a few of that number for frequenting a gambling house. They were charged in an indictment returned by the last grand jury.

One liquor case, as an echo of the numerous cases which have been tried here recently, is still on the calendar, that of the State against August Roth. The suit was tried last term with a jury, which disagreed. It will be tried again the next term of court.

Two cases in which the same parties are interested are to be found on the calendar. The ejectment suit of Miller vs. McAllister will be tried September 15. It was sent to the circuit court from the justice of peace court, where judgment was rendered for Miller. Another suit, McAllister vs. Miller for five thousand dollars, also appears on the calendar for next term. McAllister, who operates a restaurant in the Grand hotel is suing Miller, the proprietor of the hotel, for damages for an injury which his wife received by falling through the grating on the sidewalk in front of the hotel.

No cases of very much importance will come up for trial next term. Few suits over land are to be tried and no great amount of property is involved in any of them. Several small damage suits are set for trial. The court calendar is as follows:

Sept. 5—Calling dockets.
Sept. 6—State vs. Marton, grand jury indictment; State vs. Herschel Miller.

BRINGS NEW LIFE TO DEAD GAS WELL

Samuel Trabue Purchased Hole in the Ground of Mays Gas Company For $50.

IS NOW THE BEST IN THE FIELD

Samuel Trabue of Mays purchased a gas well of the Mays Gas company a short time since, paying the company $50 for the same, says the Knightstown Banner. It had been abandoned by the company and was thought to be worthless.

Mr. Trabue contracted with Samuel Pritchard of Knightstown to clean out the old well. Mr. Pritchard has in his employ Herbert Estell, the gas "wizard," who enjoys the proud distinction of reviving dead and abandoned wells and making them as good as new. Mr. Estell did the work on the Trabue well and now that gentleman has one of the best gas wells in the Mays field.

REMOVE BODY TO ILLINOIS

PLANNING FOR BIG WEDNESDAY

Free Public Auction Will be an Additional Feature on Next Wednesday.

BARGAINS WILL BE OFFERED

Two Bands Will Give Concerts and Free Matinee Tickets Will be Given.

Free band concerts, free matinee shows, free auction and numerous other inducements are what the merchants of Rushville have to offer on the second "Big Wednesday," which will be held next Wednesday. And in addition to the "Big Wednesday" feature will be added the public auction, which is expected to be very successful. Each and every merchant whose name appears on the big bill will give a bargain on that day as they did on the first "Big Wednesday."

The free public auction is a new feature which has not yet been given a trial, but it is believed that it will be a success. Farmers may enter anything which they have and it will be sold free of charge, the owner to get whatever the article brings in the auction. The farmer may enter anything which he has on his farm, including live stock, farm implements, garden truck, farm products or anything which he wishes to sell. Three auctioneers will be furnished by the Retail Merchants' Association and the costs of the auction will be stood by them.

But the merchants will also have a part in the auction. They have the privilege of entering any of their merchandise to be auctioned off under the hammer. Rare bargains may be found as the stuff put under the hammer will be sold, no matter how cheap.

The "Big Wednesday" feature will be carried out as it was on the first time the unique attempt was made. Every merchant will offer a bargain on that day, some special inducement to bring the customer into his store.

The amusement of the crowd has not been forgotten. The Rushville band and the Arlington band will furnish music all day so that concerts may be heard at any time. A concert will also be given in the evening. Free tickets to all of the matinee performances of the five cent shows will be given to purchasers in any of the stores.

The big bills giving a list of the bargains were mailed out over the rural routes today. It was planned to advertise the event in the small towns with a "flying squadron" last night, but that was postponed due to the inclement weather. A "flying squadron" trip will be taken Monday night, but the line of march has not been decided on.

LETTS GUN CLUB WILL SHOOT.

Greensburg Democrat: The Letts gun club will give a shoot at Letts on Tuesday, June 14. Nine prizes are offered and a number of professional shots will be present and participate in the day's sport.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson XI.—Second Quarter, For June 12, 1910.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xv, 21-28. Memory Verses, 21, 22—Golden Text, Matt. xv, 28—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This chapter begins with a question from the Pharisees, "Why do Thy disciples transgress the tradition of the elders?" to which Jesus replied, "Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God?" Then He added, "Ye have made the commandment of God of none effect by your traditions," quoting from the prophet Isaiah concerning those whose worship is only from the mouth and lips, while their hearts are far from God (Isa. xxix, 13; Ezek. xxxiii, 31). Paul tells us that even the wisdom of words (he must mean the human wisdom of men's words) may make the cross of Christ of none effect (I Cor. i, 17). So between mere outward form and the wisdom of man the gospel would seem to be greatly hindered, and yet our Lord is not discouraged (Isa. xlii, 4). In a lesson which we are soon to have we will hear Him say, "Let wheat and tares grow together till the harvest," but in verse 13 of this chapter He warns us in these words: "Every plant which my Heavenly Father hath not planted shall be rooted up." Let us see to it that we are indeed "trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that He may be glorified" (Isa. lxi, 3).

I cannot help thinking that from such religious formalism and hypocrisy our Lord went away into the coasts of Tyre and Sidon to be refreshed by some real faith, for, knowing all things and all people, He knew what He would find where He was going, and we do not read of any other result of this visit except the healing of this woman's daughter. This incident is found only here and in Mark vii, where we read that He entered into a house and would have no man know it. That would lead us to think that He came aside, possibly for physical rest as well as the refreshment from the faith of a gentile. This woman, whose daughter was troubled by an unclean demon, having heard of Him, came and fell at His feet and besought Him to heal her daughter. Note that she heard of Him. The questions keep ever coming. Are any hearing of Him through me? Are my life and testimony all for Him? Might some others hear if I was willing to go or more self denying in order to help others to go? The apostles are again in evidence with their "send her away, for she crieth after us" (verse 23). It is so much easier to turn down the many appeals for help, just to be let alone. So few of us seem to learn to live wholly for others, for the good we can do rather than the good we can get. The Holy Spirit needs to have more full control of us.

She addressed Him as "O Lord, thou

Son of David," but as the Son of David she, being a gentile, had no claim upon Him, and He answered her not a word. We must never tolerate a thought of any unkindness or even lack of consideration on the part of Jesus, not even when He addressed His own mother as He did in John ii, 4. He was never anything but love, and love is kind (I Cor. xiii, 4). The most that we can ever say is, "Well, I do not understand." But we must implicitly trust Him. In this case He was no doubt preparing her for the blessing He was ready to bestow. He said to the disciples, "I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel."

Her next appeal is simply "Lord, help me," and now she gives Him His right place in relation to her, but He replied, "It is not meet to take the children's bread and cast it to dogs." This does seem to our ears almost too much to bear, but He will never try us too much (I Cor. x, 13). He knew what He was doing, and it was all love, no matter how it looks to us. Listen to her reply: "Truth, Lord, yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' tables." The victory is hers. She has won; she gave Him His place as Lord, and now she takes hers, the lowest, a gentile dog. Now listen to Jesus: "O woman, great is thy faith. Be it unto thee even as thou wilt. For this saying go thy way. The devil is gone out of thy daughter" (verse 28; Mark vii, 29). She believed his word, returned home and found her daughter well.

There was a great realized need. Her daughter's trouble was her own. It was nothing foreign, nothing to which she could be in any degree indifferent. She knew she had come to one who could help her, and she would not let go. The lessons for us are easy. May we lay them to heart. He is always "this same Jesus." Compare this "great faith" with that of chapter viii, 10, and note that in each case it was the great faith of a gentile. Contrast the little faith of the disciples in Matt. vi, 30; viii, 26; xiv, 31; xvi, 8, and let us have faith in God, the faith that faints not, doubts not, wavers not, but clings believingly and expectantly (Matt. xxi, 22). In order to ask in faith we must remember John xv, 7, and I John iii, 21, 22. So much is meant by abiding, keeping His commandments and with a clear conscience doing the things that are pleasing in His sight. Then we must remember also Jas. iv, 2, 3, lest we ask amiss.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning June 12, 1910.

Topic—God knows.—Ps. ciii, 1-4; Matt. vi, 7. Comment by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

The great characteristics of God are not emphasized now as they once were. The world today is following too closely the suggestion of Pope: Know thyself. Presume not God to scan. The proper study of mankind is man.

Man's thoughts center too much around himself. Even in some pulpits, though not as many as generally supposed, society and political and economic problems are discussed in preference to the great things concerning God. But this is a great mistake. If we think supremely of material things we cannot rise above the material, for "as a man thinketh in his heart so is he."

It is encouraging, therefore, to have a topic dealing with God's omniscience, God's perfect and eternal knowledge of all things, past, present and future. There is nothing that God does not know. God knows his inanimate creation. "He telleth the number of the stars; He giveth them all their names; He has knowledge of the brute creation. Not a sparrow falls to the ground without His knowledge." Of men He knows all things—their works, "Beholdeth all the sons of man, considereth all their works;" their hearts and thoughts—"God, which knoweth the heart!" "All things are made naked and bare before Him." Many other texts might be recalled to demonstrate God's omniscience in all the affairs of the universe. The thought that God knows all things, from the secret thoughts of our hearts to the counting and naming of the stars, should most seriously impress us. It should cause an uplift in our life. We often wonder if our loved ones who are gone know what we are doing in this life, many believing that they do live better lives. But whether they do or not God knows, which is of infinitely greater importance and should have a much greater effect upon our lives for good. He knows our every thought. He sees our every act. How can we therefore do that which we know to be contrary to His will?

Another feature of God's omniscience is of the vastest importance—knowing God cares. The reason many people seem unsympathetic is because they do not know the sorrows and griefs of the hearts and lives of those about them. But God knows, and, knowing, He cares. "Every heart knoweth its own sorrow," but God knows better than we ourselves do and cares for us. "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble; therefore will not we fear though the earth be removed and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea."

Since God knows and cares we should be grateful and thankful unto Him. With the psalmist we should say, "Bless the Lord, O my soul and all that is within me, bless His holy name; bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits."

BIBLE READINGS.

Ex. iii, 7; Ps. cv, 1-12; cvl, 1, 2; cvli, 8-15; cxvi, 12-19; Matt. vi, 25-34; Isa. xli, 3, 4; Matt. x, 30; Rom. xi, 33; Heb. iv, 12, 13.

Rules For Christian Endeavorers.

Toward the close of the great Boston revival the Christian Endeavor World asked Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D., who for years has been a trustee of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, to send a special message to the Endeavorers of the world, and this is his response:

Many of the best experiences of my life are closely interwoven with the Christian Endeavor young people. For the honored president and all the men who have served as secretaries and in other official positions I have the sincerest affection, but never before have I been so drawn to Dr. Clark and those standing with him for Christian Endeavor as during the Boston revival. There have come to me a strength and a cheer from the attitude of the officers which I cannot too highly appreciate.

In this special evangelistic work I

Local Churches Sunday School Lesson Christian Endeavor

am sending forth an appeal to the Christian Endeavor young people of the world and asking that the following rules be observed:

1. Regarding the personal life:

First.—Begin each day with prayer. Do not fail at this point. A prayerless day is a powerless day.

Second.—Allow no day to pass without reading at least one chapter in the Word of God. "The Bible will keep you from sin or sin will keep you from the Bible."

Third.—Confess sin instantly. One unconfessed sin hinders prayer and hurts our Christian experience.

Fourth.—Allow no day to pass without rendering some positive act of service to others and if possible seek to lead some one to Christ.

2. Regarding service:

As a result of the Boston revival, the power of which has gone throughout the world, there ought to be a great Christian Endeavor revival along the line of personal work. Will you not heed the following:

First.—Pray definitely for some one person or more and pray for them by name.

Second.—Seek them out that you may lay before them the claims of Christ, who has a right to the best that is in us.

Third.—Do not be discouraged if you must wait to see results. One of my friends worked for his loved one twenty-eight years.

Fourth.—As soon as you lead a soul to Christ set the person won at work for others.

Fifth.—From time to time meet in conference with those who see eye to eye with you and are possessed with the same longing.

May God bless the Christian Endeavor movement throughout the world.

An Endeavor Verse.

But let one drop the walk besmire,

SAYS COMBINE IS UNLAWFUL

Indiana Attorney General Fighting Insurance Trust.

SEEKING ITS DISSOLUTION

In Allegations Presented in Court at Indianapolis Attorney General Bingham Says There Is an Unlawful Combine of Insurance Companies Organized to Control Business in a Way Inimical to the People.

Indianapolis, June 10.—Attorney General James Bingham is attempting to show to Judge Weir of superior court the completeness of an alleged organization of 139 insurance companies doing business in Indiana. The plan, according to the attorney general, is this:

The United States is divided into great parts of one gigantic organization of insurance men, it is said. The divisions are designated as the Western Union of Underwriters or the Southern Union of Underwriters, as the case may be. These unions have certain states under their control, the states in turn controlling the local boards throughout its territory. The minutes of the meetings of many of these local boards together with depositions from members of the organizations, are being introduced as evidence by Bingham in the case now on trial in superior court.

Evidence has shown the terms of membership contracts are rigid to the extreme, the boards exercising great power over their members. A member may be expelled from the organization for a certain period of time and not permitted to write insurance during that time if he does not conform to the rules of the union. While suspended he is subject to a further suspension and a heavier fine for other misdemeanors.

James H. Drew, secretary of the Indianapolis Fire Insurance Agents' association, on the witness stand Wednesday testified that the actual practices of the union are about as outlined.

The attorney general says he has hopes that one of the results of his suit against the fire insurance companies will be lower insurance rates throughout Indiana. He says if he can break up the fire insurance combine it will open up the fire insurance business in Indiana on a fair competitive basis, which will produce fair profits for the insurance companies and at the same time reduce the cost to the insured.

POLITICAL NEWS BUREAU

Democratic Editors of Indiana Pave the Way For Such an Enterprise.

Indianapolis, June 10.—Democratic editors representing every congressional district in the state met at the Denison hotel yesterday afternoon, and voted that it was the sense of the body that a news bureau shall be established in Indianapolis for the purpose of distributing political news to the Democratic papers during the campaign.

While the financial end of the question has not received special consideration, it is estimated by some of the newspaper men who have been long in the business, that it will require no small amount of money to carry the enterprise through. One newspaper man estimated that the expense of conducting the bureau throughout the campaign would not be less than $3,000. It is the hope of those who have the plans in hand, if successful, to start the bureau some time in July, preferably in the early part of the month.

The semi-annual meeting of the Indiana Associated Weeklies, an organization of publishers of papers in the towns not county seats, convened here this afternoon. The meeting will close tomorrow afternoon.

Railroaders Hold Picnic.

Richmond, Ind., June 10.—Between 2,000 and 3,000 persons, employees of the Richmond division, Pennsylvania lines, and their families, picnicked at Glen Miller park yesterday. Special trains ran into the city from Cincinnati and Logansport and each city and town along the entire division contributed its quota of excursionists.

A $10,000 Blaze.

Greentown, Ind., June 10.—Fire destroyed business property to the value of $10,000 here. The buildings included the K. M. & W. traction station, Willcutt Brothers' general store, the Creviton & Cates livery barn, the Brown & Ware barber shop and the real estate and insurance offices of Thomas Hawkins and George Myers.

They Cling to Bonnets.

Winona Lake, Ind., June 10.—Before closing the Dunkard national conference, delegates to the annual convention here decided to make no changes in the wearing apparel of the members of the church, particularly with regard to the bonnets of the women.

Inspected the Gary Mills.

NO MORE GRAY HAIR

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made and used a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit. The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready to use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. As a scalp tonic and color restorer, this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers, and it can be bought for 50 cents and $1 a bottle at almost any first-class drug store, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by Hargrove & Mullin.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new or but slightly tested medicines—sometimes urged upon the afflicted as "just as good" or better than "Favorite Prescription." The dishonest dealer sometimes insists that he knows what the proffered substitute is made of, but you don't and it is decidedly for your interest that you should know what you are taking into your stomach and system expecting it to act as a curative. ## Historical Fiction.

The annual report of the United States Brewers' Association has found its way into practically every newspaper office of any size in the United States. The contents of the book can be taken for what they are worth, when the following comment from the Marion Chronicle on conditions there, are read:

Indiana, for years, has had the reputation of turning out the best of historical fiction, but with the receipt of the annual report of the United States Brewers' Association, Indiana must yield its honors to that organization.

The annual report, or the "annual book," of the brewers has just been issued. As a work of fiction it is especially perfect, and it contains just enough of the element of truth to be a historical novel.

What the report says has been reproduced in The Chronicle and those who read the article know something of the falsehoods it contains—falsehoods so obvious that they are ridiculous.

The book says that the Soldiers' Home corner fairly flows with intoxicants and in the next breath it says that the members of the Soldiers' Home have to go to Hartford City to get a drink. Who will believe such rot? In the first place if the Home corner furnished booze as freely as the report indicates, why should any one go to Hartford City to get his liquor? In the second place, if the Home corner is as bad as it has been pictured by the brewers, why is it that the people generally do not know of it—why, indeed, except that the report is simply a pack of falsehoods, woven together so loosely that it can not stand alone?

The Soldiers' Home corner is not the bootlegger's paradise. For the first time in the history of the Marion police department last pension day there was not one single case of intoxication. That fact alone is enough to convince anybody who has lived in Marion long that there is very little liquor sold at the corners.

What the conditions are at Anderson we can not say from actual information. What the conditions are at other dry towns mentioned can not be stated positively. But the report of the brewers is that these towns are swamped in booze—saturated with it—disgusted with local option. There is only one way to answer this allegation: If the brewers lied about Marion and the Soldiers' Home they would lie about other cities and communities; and we have no doubt they did lie.

They are trying to hoodwink the people into believing their shallow arguments; they are trying to thrust the old system of brewery politics back on the people; they are trying to make the people of every dry community believe that they can better their condition by returning to the rule of the dives and saloons.

Just one more idea along this line: When the people of this city and this county were considering which way they would vote on the wet and dry question, reports very similar to those in the brewers' report were circulated in Marion. At that time it was asserted by The Chronicle that these reports were shallow, and that there was nothing in them. It is now evident that such reports came from the brewers themselves. The brewers were trying to convince the people that they could sell more beer in a dry town than in a wet one, and at the same time they were very determinedly fighting dry sentiment.

The last report of the brewers' association of the United States shows that they are still trying to force this sort of argument on the people, and that they are not sticking very close to the truth to do it.

GETTING READY

The Principals in Roosevelt Wedding Return to the City.

H., June 10.—Theodore Roosevelt, jr., his fiancee, Miss Alexander, and her mother, Mrs. Henry Addison Alexander, with her maid, have left here for New York, where the wedding of Miss Alexander and young Roosevelt will take place the 20th of this month in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Alexander has sold her summer cottage in the Profile, and in order to attend to the packing of the rare antique furniture which it contained and which is a wedding present to her daughter, the party have been stopping at the Lafayette cottage in the famous Franconia Notch, which is about fifteen miles from here. The party came to Littleton last Monday evening.

Formal Resolutions of the Wisconsin Republican Convention.

Washington, June 10.—L. H. Bancroft, chairman of the Republican state convention in session at Milwaukee, has sent this telegram to President Taft:

AMUSEMENTS

The Vaudet management offers a comedy program tonight, which is guaranteed to bring a laugh. The film, "The Tempting Collar or the Weak Minded Person" is the title of the film which is advertised to have a laugh for every foot. A new illustrated song is on the program.

The Star Grand will present a picture tonight entitled "The Castaways." Two shall be born, the whole wide world apart, and speak in different tongues and have no thought, each for the other's being; and have no heed. And these, o'er unknown seas to unknown lands shall cross; escaping wreck; defying death; and all unconsciously, shape every act to this one end. That, one day, out of darkness; they shall meet and read life's meaning in each other's eyes. It is a story of a shipwreck and a rescue from a deserted island in the West Indies. Earl Robertson will sing, "Waltz me Till I'm Weary, Dearie."

The Palace management offers a good program tonight in the Biograph comedy, "An Affair of Hearts." Billy Moore of Indianapolis will sing a catchy popular air with spot light effects as a special addition to the program tonight.

The picture to be shown tonight tells the story for a Frenchman to see a pretty woman is to love her, heedless of the disaster his attendant persistence may occur, so it is that when Mons. Borni spies the fair unknown he is anxious to become her abject slave. She, however, resents his impudence and in his dejection writes to his dear friend Mons. Renay the following: "My dear Renay; I love; I worship a lady I do not know. From none can I find out who she is. I have just seen her. I must know her and make her my wife. What shall I do? My dear friend, I crave your help. Gaston Borni." Mons. Renay flies to his dear friend's assistance, and the first sight they get of the fair lady is as she speeds through the park in her auto. She is alone and they engage a small runabout to follow her. Borni, of course paying for it. As there is but one front seat Renay takes this while the love-struck Borni is forced to occupy the footman's chair, but what cares he, so long as it will take him into the presence of his charmer. They follow the auto until it arrives at the lady's home, which she enters hurriedly. A policeman is standing by and they, that is Borni, pay him to divulge the name of the fair goddess, but after pocketing the liberal bribe, he tells them he is very sorry to say he doesn't know her. But they reason that faint heart ne'er won fair lady, so they persist, and the next time they encounter her riding horseback. The climax of the story is very startling.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

GOES TO CITY.

(New Castle Courier.)

I. A. Gorman, superintendent of the Richmond police department has received a warrant from Wayne county for $500, representing the county's reward for the capture of the murderer of Mrs. Frank Allison, near Cambridge City. He will turn his check into the city treasury, as required by law.

MAY BOOST PRICES.

(Greenfield Reporter.)

Greenfield barbers are circulating an agreement for signatures among the men of that calling in this city, fixing the price for shaves at fifteen cents. A number of proprietors had signed up at noon Thursday and some were holding back.

The argument from the boss barbers' point of view is that the cost of living has advanced so that they can not pay their employes and make a living for themselves, and that in nearly every other city of the State a shave costs a man fifteen cents. They say a barber gets no more nowadays when he must use hot towels and all the extras than he did when he went over a man's face with a razor twice and turned him out.

AN INTERESTING CHAPTER.

(Shelbyville Democrat.)

In the vernacular of the colored camp meeting grounds, Dan Cupid played a "most important part" in healing the broken and bleeding heart of one Dale Brooks, who was married to Miss Gertrude Arbuckle in Rushville a few days ago.

Both young people reside at Manilla. While the news of their marriage will come as a surprise to some of their friends yet their intimate acquaintances knew that such an announcement would be forthcoming in a few days.

After their sojourn at Knightstown they will return to Manilla and will reside on a farm near that place. The marriage is the culmination of a romance that had its beginning several months ago.

But back of the marriage lies a thrilling story in several chapters, the last of which has never been written. The foundations for the first chapter were laid in this county, near St. Paul. Brooks in company with Miss Bertha Moore were enroute to St. Paul one Sunday when Herschel Miller, another suitor for the hand of Miss Moore, drove his rig directly into one occupied by Brooks and Miss Moore, so it was charged. As a result Brooks brought suit for $1,500 damages and the case is now pending in the Decatur circuit court where it was sent on a change of venue from Rush county. M. O. Sullivan of this city, is attorney for Miller and he stated a few days ago that the case was still on the docket. It was reported that it would be dismissed, but up to the present time the report has lacked confirmation. Shortly after the episode in the road Brooks began to pay attention to Miss Arbuckle and that wily old Dan Cupid did the rest as evidenced by the marriage announcement.

STORIES WERE FAKES.

(Columbus Republican.)

State Fish and Game Commissioner Z. T. Sweeney, who came home last Wednesday night, flatly denies the stories sent out from Ft. Wayne that he had said that he proposed to retain the office of fish and game commissioner until the first of next year.

Commissioner Sweeney says he never made any such statement to any man in Ft. Wayne, and that he did not see or talk with a reporter while he was there. He says the only conversation he had touching the fish and game commissionership at all was with a man who took lunch with him and that this conversation was confidential. Moreover, he says he received a letter from the man yesterday morning stating that he (the man) had said nothing to anybody about the conversation between the two. Commissioner Sweeney says the stories sent out from Ft. Wayne make him appear ridiculous and that they are fabrications from start to finish.

"I may tell you, captain, that even I myself have not succeeded in learning the name of this mysterious personage." Addressing Annie, he said: "I think you had better tell us. I see no advantage in concealing it any further."

Annie shook her head.

"Not yet," she murmured; "she will tell you herself when she comes."

"Hh! I thought as much!" exclaimed the banker incredulously.

The captain rose and drew himself up to his full height, a favorite trick of his, when about to assert his authority.

"Well, when she does come!" he exclaimed, "I think you may as well understand she will be taken to headquarters and held as a witness."

"You'll arrest her!" cried the lawyer.

"That's what I said, judge. She's a material witness—the most important one the State has. I don't intend that she shall get away."

"Arrest her! Oh, judge, don't let him do that!" exclaimed Annie in dismay.

Judge Brewster grew red in the face. Wrathfully he said:

"She is coming to my house of her own free will. She has trusted to my honor."

"Yes—yes!" cried Annie. "She trusts to your honor, judge."

Capt. Clinton grinned.

"Honor cuts mighty little ice in this matter. There's no use talking. I shall place her under arrest."

"I will not permit such a disgraceful proceeding!" cried the lawyer.

"With all due respect, judge," retorted the policeman impudently, "you

Get Well First

Don't risk even a penny—until health first returns.

And I mean just exactly that. I am the one physician who says to the sick "I will, out of my own pocket, pay for your medicine if it fails to bring you help!"

And for 20 years Dr. Shoop's medicines have been used and recommended in every city and hamlet in America. They are positively standard in every community—and everywhere. Then why pay the cash, and at your risk, for other untried and uncertain medicines? Thousands upon thousands have in the past successfully used Dr. Shoop's Restorative. When the Stomach nerves, or the Heart or Kidney nerves fail, these medicines know how quickly Dr. Shoop's Restorative will bring them back to health again. But best of all, they positively take no money risk whatever. They know that when health fails to return, Dr. Shoop will gladly pay the drug cost for that. And for that test a full 30 day treatment is freely granted. But write me first for an order.

This will save delay and disappointment. All druggists sell Dr. Shoop's Restorative and Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy, but all are not authorized to give the 30 day test. So drop me a line please—for I have appointed an honest and responsible druggist in almost every community. I will issue my "no money risk" medicine to the sick. Tell me also which book you want. The books below will surely open up new and helpful ideas to those who are not well. Besides you are perfectly free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription. My best effort is to help you. Write me your simple story. I will answer it fresh in my mind, for tomorrow never comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

won't be consulted. You have declared yourself counsel for the man who has been indicted for murder—I didn't ask you to take me into your confidence—you invited me here, treated me to a lecture on psychology, for which I thank you very much, but I don't feel that I need any further instruction. If this woman ever does get here, the moment she leaves the house Maloney has instructions to arrest her, but I guess we needn't worry. She has probably forgotten her appointment. Some people are very careless in that respect." Moving toward the door, he added: "Well, if it's all the same to you, I'll wait downstairs. Good-night."

He went out, his hat impudently tilted back on his head, a sneer on his lips. The banker turned to the judge. "I told you how it would be," he said scornfully. "A flash in the pan!"

The lawyer looked askance at Annie.

"You are sure she will come?" he asked.

"Yes, I am sure!" With concern she added: "But the disgrace of arrest! It will kill her! Oh, judge, don't let them arrest her!"

"Tell me who she is!" commanded the lawyer sternly.

It was the first time he had spoken to her harshly and Annie, to her dismay, thought she detected a note of doubt in his voice. Looking toward the banker, she replied:

"I can't tell you just now—she'll be here soon—"

"Tell me now—I insist," said the lawyer with growing impatience.

"Please—please don't ask me!" she pleaded.

Mr. Jeffries made an angry gesture. "As I told you, Brewster, her whole story is a fabrication trumped up for some purpose—God knows what object she has in deceiving us! I only know that I warned you what you always may expect from people of her class."

The judge said nothing for a moment. Then quietly he whispered to the banker:

"Go into my study for a few moments, will you, Jeffries?"

The banker made a gesture, as if utterly disgusted with the whole business.

"I am going home," he said testily. "I've had a most painful evening—most painful. Let me know the result of your investigation as soon as possible. Good night. Don't disturb me to-night, Brewster. To-morrow will do."

He left the room in high dudgeon, banging the door behind him. Annie burst into a laugh.

"Don't disturb him!" she mimicked. "He's going to get all that's coming to him."

Shocked at her levity, the lawyer turned on her severely.

"Do you want me to lose all faith in you?" he asked sternly.

"No, indeed," she answered contritely.

"Then tell me," he demanded, "why do you conceal this woman's name from me?"

"Because I don't want to be the one to expose her. She shall tell you herself."

self.

"That's all very well," he replied, "but meantime you are directing suspicion against yourself. Your father-in-law believes you are the woman; so does Capt. Clinton."

"The captain suspects everybody," she laughed. "It's his business to suspect. As long as you don't believe that I visited Underwood that night—"

The judge shook his head as if puzzled.

"Candidly, I don't know what to think," he said. "I want to think the very best of you, Annie, but you won't let me."

She hesitated a moment and then, quickly, she said:

"I suppose I'd better tell you and have done with it—but I don't like to—"

At that moment a servant entered and handed the lawyer a card.

"The lady wants to see you at once, sir."

"To see me," asked the lawyer in surprise: "are you sure she hasn't come for Mr. Jeffries?"

"No, sir; she asked for you."

Annie sprang forward.

"Is it Mrs. Jeffries?" she asked.

"Yes," he replied.

"Let me see her, judge," she exclaimed eagerly. "I'll tell her who it is and she can tell you—she's a woman—and I'd rather let her speak to her, please!"

Addressing the servant, the lawyer said:

"Ask Mrs. Jeffries to come up."

Turning to his client, he went on:

"I see no objection to your speaking to Mrs. Jeffries. After all, she is your husband's stepmother. But I am free to confess that I don't understand you. I am more than disappointed in your failure to keep your word. You promised definitely that you would bring the witness here to-night. On the strength of that promise I made statements to Capt. Clinton which I have not been able to substantiate. The whole story looks like an invention on your part."

She held out her hands entreatingly.

"It's not an invention! Really, judge! Just a little while longer! You've been so kind, so patient!"

There was a trace of anger in the lawyer's voice as he went on:

"I believed you implicitly. You were so positive this woman would come forward."

"She will—she will. Give me only a few minutes more!" she cried.

The lawyer looked at her as if puzzled.

"A few minutes?" he said. Again he looked at her and then shook his head resignedly. "Well, it's certainly infectious!" he exclaimed. "I believe you again."

The door opened and Alicia appeared. The lawyer advanced politely to greet her.

"Good evening, Mrs. Jeffries."

Alicia shook hands with him, at the same time looking inquiringly at Annie, who, by a quick gesture, told her that the judge knew nothing of her secret. The lawyer went on:

"Mrs. Jeffries, Jr., wishes to speak to you. I said I thought there'd be no objection; you don't mind. May she?"

"Yes," murmured Alicia.

"Your husband was here," said the judge.

"My husband!" she cried, startled. Again she glanced inquiringly at Annie and tried to force a smile.

"Yes," said the lawyer; "he'll be glad to know you're here. I'll tell him." Turning to Annie, he said: "When you're ready, please send and—"

"Very well, judge."

The lawyer went out and Alicia turned round breathlessly.

"My husband was here?" she exclaimed.

"Yes."

"You've told Mr. Brewster nothing?" Annie shook her head.

"I couldn't," she said. "I tried to, but I couldn't. It seems so hard, doesn't it?"

Alicia laughed bitterly and Annie went on: "I was afraid you weren't coming!"

"The train was late!" exclaimed Alicia evasively. "I went up to Stamford to say good-by to my mother."

"To say good-by?" echoed her companion in surprise.

"Yes," said the other tearfully. "I have said good-by to her—I have said good-by to everybody—to everything—to myself—I must give them all up—I must give myself up."

"Oh, it isn't as bad as that, surely?" Alicia shook her head sadly.

"Yes," she said; "I've reckoned it all up. It's a total loss. Nothing will be saved—husband, home, position, good name—all will go. You'll see. I shall be torn into little bits of shreds. They won't leave anything unsaid. But it's not that I care for so much. It's the injustice of it all. The injustice of the power of evil. This man Underwood never did a good action in all his life. And now even after he is dead he has the power to go on destroying—destroying—destroying!"

"That's true," said Annie; "he was no good."

To be Continued.

UNITED CLOTHES

You're Safe In Buying United Clothes

You may be a good lawyer or banker, an expert mechanic or a well-to-do farmer and yet not know the value of clothing, for not one man in a hundred can tell by looking at a garment whether it will give satisfactory service. They operate one of the largest clothing manufacturing plants in the world and there are no better clothes made.

MEXICO FACES
BAD REBELLION

The Mayas Have Presented a Formidable Force.

ARE STRONGLY INTRENCHED

The Town of Citas Reported to Have Been Captured by Rebels With Heavy Loss of Life and the Destruction of Much Property—Government Is Rushing Heavy Forces of Troops to Scene of Uprising.

Merida, Mexico, June 10.—The first consignment of troops to arrive here from Vera Cruz are being rushed to the vicinity of Valladolid, where the Maya Indians are said to be well intrenched and ready to battle with the government forces.

Communication with the turbulent district is very difficult on account of the destruction of many miles of railroad and the cutting of the telegraph wires by the rebels. The railroad is in operation to Isamide, some distance this side of Valladolid. It is reported that the town of Citas has been captured by the Indians and that there was a heavy loss of life and much property destroyed. A number of renegade Mexicans, among them several who formerly held government positions in Quintana Roo territory, are directing the military movements of the insurgent forces, it is reported.

No direct communication has been received from General Bravo, commander of the Tenth military zone, with headquarters at Chan Santa Cruz, the old capital of the Maya tribe, since the recent outbreak occurred, but runners were dispatched with orders for him to move with his regiment of 1,000 men upon the Indians who are holding Valladolid. Whether General Bravo is penned in by the Indians and unable to respond to the order is not known here. No reports of the devastation of Henequin plantations by the rebels have been received at Merida. The first estimate that the Maya force at Valladolid and in that vicinity numbered more than 5,000 men is confirmed.

The military authorities here believe that the rebellion will be put down in short order, although it is admitted that the Mayas can divide into small bands and take refuge in their tropical fastnesses, where they can continue a guerilla warfare for some time. No news has been received from the one hundred or more Americans who are employed in the mahogany logging and chicole camps in the heart of the Maya country.

WHOLESALE ARRESTS

Diaz's Opponent and His Principal Supporters in Durango.

Saltillo, Mexico, June 10.—The political excitement in this part of Mexico over the arrest of Francisco Medero, candidate for president against Diaz, has been intensified by the arrest in Saltillo of a number of his leading supporters who are alleged to have participated in a political meeting. Many of Medero's followers belong to the wealthy class.

Tells His Troubles to Taft.

New York, June 10.—Heriberto Barron of 238 West Twenty-second street, who says he was driven out of Mexico by President Diaz because he was a candidate against Diaz at the election to be held on June 25, has written a letter to President Taft complaining that President Diaz is still trying to keep him from making a living and will not permit him to return to Mexico on a business trip.

Shuts Down on Campaign Oratory.
Monterrey, Mexico, June 10.—Governor Jose Maria Mier has issued an order prohibiting public speaking in this state during the presidential campaign. Political meetings of every kind are also prohibited. This action is taken to prevent strife and lawless conduct, he says.

FIVE KILLED

When Fast Train Caught Funeral Party at a Crossing.

Haverstraw, N. Y., June 10.—Four persons were killed outright and a fifth was fatally injured here when a flying West Shore engine struck a funeral coach returning from the local cemetery.

The dead are: William Beebe of Haverstraw; Rev. A. Romath, pastor of the New City M. E. church; E. V. Seiferd of New City, Mrs. E. V. Seiferd of New City.

Mrs. Perry Keesler of Haverstraw was fatally injured and died later. The parties were on the way back from the funeral of Mrs. Seiferd's father, George Keesler. The clergyman had had charge of the services at the grave.

Party Names Meaningless.

Philadelphia June 10.—In the course of his speech to the graduating class of Swarthmore college Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford Jr. university, declared that party names have lost their meaning. He said that Republican and Democrat are one and the same except in name, and the only straight ticket that could be voted is the one with the "crooked" names all scratched off.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean of June 9 has this to say of a wedding which is of interest to local people:

Very military and navy like indeed was the wedding which occurred on Wednesday night at Evanston. The bride was Miss Dorothy E. Baird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Baird. The groom was Ensign William Woodfill Turner, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Turner of Rushville, Ind., and one of the officers of the battleship South Carolina.

The service was solemnized at 8:30 o'clock at the Baird residence, 1102 Dempster street, by Rev. J. W. Turner, D. D., father of the groom.

Miss Helen Baird, the bride's sister, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Saunders of Evansville, Ind., and Miss Louise Curtze of Erie, Pa. Little Ruth Birdsall of Evanston was the flower girl and Miss Rachel and Master Web-Wirt Turner were ribbon bearers. The groom's best man was Gilmore Haynie of Evansville, Ind.

Miss Baird's bridal gown was of white satin trimmed in Duchesse lace and pearls. Her tulle veil fell from a half wreath of orange blossoms and she carried white roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a dress of pink messaline with real lace trimmings, and carried Killarney roses. White hand embroidered lingerie dresses trimmed in baby Irish lace were worn by the bridesmaids, who carried silver baskets of pink sweet peas and maiden hair ferns. The flower girl and ribbon bearers were dressed in white. The groom was in full dress navy uniform. The decorations were flags, navy emblems and Killarney roses.

Ensign Turner and his bride will spend the summer in Princetown, Mass., where his vessel will be in port.
